LAUNCH OF THE PERSONAL FINANCE: I'M IN CHARGE! PROGRAM
A $50,000 partnership between Desjardins and the
Conseil de la coopération de l'Ontario

Sudbury, October 18, 2016 – Desjardins is proud to announce a $50,000 financial partnership with the Conseil de la coopération de l'Ontario (CCO) to set up the Personal Finance: I'm in Charge! program. This financial education program was created for young people, ages 16 to 25, who want to learn more about finances and make informed decisions and choices as consumers, students and workers.

Personal Finance: I'm in Charge! takes an interactive approach to learning. It encourages young people to know more about topics that affect them such as:

- Budgets
- Consumer choices
- Studies and work
- Financial services
- How to avoid overspending and debt

Starting in mid-November 2016, the CCO will offer the program for free in the Greater Sudbury, Simcoe and Greater Toronto areas.

Group training sessions led by the CCO will help participants learn how and why it's important to know how to manage their finances.

"Financial education has always been a priority for Desjardins. And given that students are graduating with an average of $28,000 in debt, it's our duty to give them the information and tools they need to adopt sound financial management practices," according to Denis Vallée, Chair of the Board of Caisse populaire de Cochrane-Témiscaming.

General Manager of the Conseil de la coopération de l'Ontario, Luc Morin, states that "The Personal Finance: I'm in Charge! program will help young people become financially independent and make responsible choices because the program's 16 modules are based on real life consumer and financial situations."
